Request for Suggestions for Additions to the "Acceptable Identification of Goods and Services Manual"

The purpose of this notice is to solicit suggestions from trademark practitioners and trademark owners to add listings to the "Acceptable Identification of Goods and Services Manual" used by examining attorneys.

The manual, which was last revised in 1991, serves as a guide in the examination of identifications of goods and services in trademark applications. The manual lists numerous descriptions of goods and services which should be accepted in an application. The list is not exhaustive of all description which are acceptable and is subject to change without notice. The manual provides useful documentation to expedite approval of applications and to minimize inconsistency in office actions. Earlier versions of the manual have been included as an appendix to Jerome Gilson's Trademark Protection and Practice. The manual is also available for purchase from the U.S. Trademark Association.

The Office intends to issue another revision to the manual in 1993. To produce the best manual possible, we are soliciting input from interested parties to produce a manual which is more useful not only to PTO personnel, but also to trademark applicants and practitioners. Although we welcome any comments or suggestions related to general policies governing acceptable identifications of goods and services, we are most interested in suggestions for new listings of specific, acceptable identifications for inclusion in the revision.

Many practitioners have suggested that Examining Attorneys are overly restrictive in handling broadly worded identifications. Presently, it is Office policy to require brief identifications which use the common names of the goods or services or succinctly worded descriptions when no common names exist. Furthermore, when the mark is used on a number of items which make up a homogenous group, it is acceptable to use a term which identifies the group as a whole and which would be understood as encompassing products or services of the same general type which are commercially related. TMEP § 804.02 (January 1986).

In the spirit of allowing the maximum flexibility under current identification policy, and in response to the recent comments of practitioners, the Office encourages those concerned to submit specific examples of broadly worded identifications which they consider acceptable. Any suggestions, however, must satisfy three basic criteria: (1) the identification must be sufficiently specific to permit classification of the goods or services and must not include any term which includes particular items which are classified in more than one International Class; (2) the identification must be sufficiently specific to determine likelihood of confusion; and (3) the identification must be sufficiently specific to provide notice to third parties as to the scope of the applicant's rights in the mark.

Although the Office will accept comments or suggestions at any time, the office requests that suggestions for additions to the manual should be submitted by April 1, 1993. All suggestions and comments should be sent to the attention of Alan Datri, Administrator for Trademark Classification and Practice, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.

Patent Interference Practice Burden of Proof

Agency: Patent and Trademark Office, Commerce
Action: Notice of Proposed Rulemaking
Summary: The Patent and Trademark Office (PTO) proposes to amend its rules of practice in patent interference cases. As a result of issues arising in some recent cases, it is apparent that parties in interference cases would be helped if the interference rules explicitly stated which party has the burden of proof when a motion is filed. There is also some confusion with respect to the nature of the evidence that should be submitted with a preliminary motion, particularly when testimony is needed to support or oppose the preliminary motion. PTO proposes to specify that a party filing a motion has the burden of proof. PTO also proposes to more clearly specify the nature of expert witness and factual witness evidence that must accompany a preliminary motion. Finally, PTO proposes to add a definition of an interlocutory order, as contrasted with a final decision, in order to clarify the meaning of an interlocutory order.
Dates: Comments must be submitted on or before Mar. 8, 1993. A public hearing will not be held.
Addresses: Address written comments to Box 8, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231, marked to the attention of Fred E. McKelvey, Solicitor. Written comments will be available for public inspection in Suite 918, on the 9th floor of Crystal Park II, located at 2121 Crystal Drive, Arlington, Virginia.
For Further Information Contact: Fred E. McKelvey by telephone at (703) 305-9035 or by mail marked to his attention and addressed to Box 8, Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks, Washington, D.C. 20231.
Supplementary Information: The PTO conducts interference proceedings to determine who, as between two or more applicants for patent or one or more applicants and one or more patentees, is the first inventor of a patentable invention. In the course of interference proceedings, the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences enters two kinds of decisions, interlocutory orders and final decisions. There has been some confusion as to what orders are interlocutory orders. The PTO is proposing to add subsection (q) to 37 CFR § 1.601 to define an interlocutory order and to contrast interlocutory orders with the final decision. The presumption of correctness of an interlocutory order, which is presently in 37 CFR § 1.655(a), is proposed to be moved to proposed new subsection 1.601(q), and to be deleted from § 1.655(a). The definition of intrelocutory order would include the decision represented by the notice declaring the interference.

Under the interfernece rules, a party in an interference is authorized to file motions, including preliminary motions (37 CFR § 1.633), motions to correct inventorship (37 CFR § 1.634) and miscellaneous motions (37 CFR § 1.635). When necessary, a preliminary motion should be accompanied by evidence (37 CFR § 1.639). Recently there has been confusion as to who has the burden of proof when a motion is filed. For example, when transmitting papers to the Board for declaration of an interference, the Primary Examiner determines in the first instance the extent, if any, to which a party is entitled to the filing date of an earlier domestic or foreign application. 37 CFR § 1.609(b)(4). The interference is then declared by an examiner-in-chief and an indication is given that a party has been accorded the benefit of the filing date of an earlier application. 37 CFR § 1.611(c)(5). An opponent, however, is authorized to challenge the initial decision of the Primary Examiner and the examiner-in-chief to accord benefit. The challenge is made through a preliminary motion. 37 CFR § 1.633(g). It is the PTO's position that the party filing the motion bears the burden of proof to show that its opponent should not have been accorded the benefit of the filing date of an earlier application. If adopted, the proposed rules would make explicit in 37 CFR § 1.637(a) that a party filing a motion has the burden of proving why it is entitled to the relief sought in the motion.

Another difficulty in interference cases has been compliance with 37 CFR § 1.639 with respect to evidence that must accompany a preliminary motion. In 1990, a decision was entered in Hanagan v. Kimura, 16 USPQ2d 1791, 1794 (Comm'r Pat. 1990), that provided the following guidance:

To the extent it may prove useful, the following guidance is provided. When expert testimony is needed in support of, or in opposition to, a preliminary motion, a party should:

(1) identify the person whom it expects to call as an expert;
(2) state the field in which the person is alleged to be an expert; and
(3) state in a declaration signed by the person
(a) the subject matter on which the person is expected to testify,
(b) the facts and opinions to which the person is expected to testify, and
(c) a summary of the grounds and basis for each opinion.

If a person is to be called as a fact witness, a declaration by that person stating the facts should be filed.

If the other party is to be called, or if evidence in the possession of the other party is necessary, an explanation of the evidence sought, what it will show, and why it is needed must be supplied.

When inter partes tests are to be preformed, a description of the tests stating what they will show must be presented.

The nature of the showing under § 1.639(c) will vary from case to case.

Nothing in the rule change being proposed would alter the need to supply evidence in support of, or in opposition to, a preliminary motion. The rules being proposed would codify the Hanagan guidelines. Subsection (c) of § 1.639 is proposed to be amended to refer to "additional evidence in the form of testimony" so as to distinguish the evidence needed under subsection (c) from that which may be submitted under subsection (a) and (b).

Proposed subsection (d) to 37 CFR § 1.639 would specify the nature of evidence that must be submitted when an opinion of an expert is needed. The statement which would be required under proposed subsection (d) would be essentially the same as discovery required under Rule 26(b)(4)(A)(i) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

Proposed subsection (e) would specify the nature of evidence that must be submitted when a statement of a fact witness is to relied upon.

Proposed subsection (f) would specify the nature of a showing which should be made when a statement of an opponent is needed or evidence in possession of an opponent is needed.

Proposed subsection (g) would specify the nature of evidence that must be supplied if inter partes tests are to be conducted.

The party filing the preliminary motion would be expected to supply all necessary evidence with the preliminary motion. Likewise, a party opposing a preliminary motion should supply with the opposition all needed evidence in support of the opposition. Normally, if a party cannot obtain all necessary evidence to support or oppose a preliminary motion, and can show good cause, the party should seek an extension of time to file or oppose the preliminary motion. In an unuasual situation, the guidance may not apply in the case of a party opposing a preliminary motion. In a recent interference, an examiner-in-chief deferred to final hearing consideration of a preliminary motion which had been accompanied by considerable evidence. The opponent had requested leave to take testimony. Based on the amount of evidence submitted with the preliminary motion, it was the examiner-in-chief's view that it would have been manifestly unfair to require the opponent to have prepared a full case in opposition to the preliminary motion in the 20-day period set for filing oppositions. As noted by the examiner-in-chief in the instance mentioned above, more leeway as to the evidence, and when it is supplied, can properly be granted to a party opposing a preliminary motion than a party filing a preliminary motion. The party filing the preliminary motion knows what must be proved. A party opposing the preliminary motion may or may not have time to fully respond with evidence accompanying an opposition. If an examiner-in-chief finds in a particular case that a party, during the time allowed for filing an opposition to a preliminary motion, could not reasonably have fully marshalled its evidence for presentation along with the opposition to a preliminary motion, a testimony period may be set. Alternatively, the examiner-in-chief, sua sponte or on motion of the opponent, may grant an extension of time to gather and supply the evidence. The action to be taken is a matter within the discretion of the examiner-in-chief.

Present 37 CFR 1.655(a) is proposed to be amended by deleting the last sentence, which would be moved to and be included in the proposed definition of interlocutory order in proposed subsection 1.601(q). The burden of showing error in entry of an interlocutory order is on the party challenging the order. If the order involved a procedural matter, the challenger must show that an examiner-in-chief or a panel abused discretion in entering the order. If the order involved a non-procedural matter (i.e., granting a motion for judgement based on unpatentability), the challenger must show legal error.

In some instances, two or more interlocutory orders may involve the same issue. For example, a notice declaring an interference may accord a party benefit of an earlier application. A preliminary motion may result in the party being denied benefit. When there are two or more interlocutory orders involving the same issue, the latest interlocutory order is presumed to be correct in further proceedings in the interference.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

The proposed rule changes are in conformity with the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), Executive Orders 12291 and 12612 and the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq.

The General Counsel of the Department of Commerce has certified to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy, Small Business Administration, that these proposed rule changes will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities (Regulatory Flexibilty Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b)). The principal impact of these proposed changes would be to clarify procedure in patent interference and thereby eliminate any ambiguity which might exist in current rules.

The Office has determined that this proposed rule change is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291. The annual effect on the economy will be less than $100 million. There will be no major increase in costs or prices for consumers; individuals; industries; Federal, state or local government agencies; or geographic regions. There will be no significant effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foriegn-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The Office has also determined that this notice has no Federalism implications affecting the relationship between the National Government and the States as outlined in Executive Order 12612.

The rule change will not impose a burden under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980, 44 U.S.C. 3501 et seq., since no recordkeeping or reporting requirements within the coverage of the Act are placed upon the public.

LIST OF SUBJECTS
37 CFR Part 1

Administrative practice and procedure, Courts, Inventions and patents.

PART 1 - RULES OF PRACTICE IN PATENT CASES

For the reasons set out in the preamble, it is proposed to amend 37 CFR part 1 wherein removals are indicated by brackets ([ ]) and additions by arrows (◀▶):

1. The authority citation for 37 CFR part 1 would continue to read as follows:

Authority: 35 U.S.C. 6, unless otherwise noted.

2. Section 1.601 is proposed to be amended by adding paragraph (q) to read as follows:

§ 1.601 Scope of rules, definitions.

* * * * *

▶(q) A final decision is a decision awarding judgment as to all counts. An interlocutory order is any other action taken by an examiner-in-chief or a panel of the Board in an interference, including the notice declaring an interference. All interlocutory orders shall be presumed to have been correct and the burden of showing error or an abuse of discretion shall be on the party attacking the order. When two or more interlocutory orders involve the same issue, the last entered order shall be presumed to have been correct.◀

3. Section 1.637 is proposed to be amended by revising paragraph (a) to read as follows:

§ 1.637 Content of motions.

(a) ▶A party filing a motion has the burden of proof to show that it is entitled to the relief sought in the motion.◀ Every motion shall include (1) a statement of the precise relief requested, (2) a statement of the material facts in support of the motion, and (3) a full statement of the reasons why the relief requested should be granted.

* * * * *

4. Section 1.639 is proposed to be amended by revising paragraph (c) and by adding subsections (d) through (g) as follows:

§ 1.639 Evidence in supporet of motion, opposition, or reply.

* * * * *

(c) When a party believes that ▶additional evidence in the form of◀ testimony is necessary to support or oppose a preliminary motion under § 1.633 or a motion to correct inventorship under § 1.634, the party shall describe the nature of any proposed testimony ▶in the manner specified in paragraph (d) through (g) of this section◀. If the examiner-in-chief finds that testimony is needed to decide the motion, the examiner-in-chief may grant appropriate interlocutory relief and enter an order authorizing the taking of testimony and deferring a decision on the motion to final hearing.

▶(d) When the testimony is needed in support of or opposition to a preliminary motion is expert testimony, the moving party or opponent should:

(1) identify the person whom it expects to call as an expert;

(2) state the field in which the person is alleged to be an expert; and

(3) state:

(i) the subject matter on which the person is expected to testify;

(ii) the facts and opinions to which the person is expected to testify; and

(iii) a summary of the grounds and basis for each opinion.

(e) If a fact witness is to be relied upon, state the facts to which the witness will testify.

(f) If the opponent is to be called, or if evidence in the possession of the opponent is necessary, explain the evidence sought, what it will show, and why it is needed.

(g) When inter partes tests are to be performed, describe the tests stating what they will be expected to show.◀

5. Section 1.655 is proposed to be amended by removing the last sentence of paragraph (a) as follows:

§ 1.655 Matters considered in rendering a final decision.

(a) In rendering a final decision, the Board may consider any properly raised issue including (1) priority of invention, (2) derivation by an opponent from a party who filed a preliminary statement under § 1.625, (3) patentability of the invention, (4) admissibility of evidence, (5) any interlocutory matter deferred to final hearing, and (6) any other matter necessary to resolve the interference. The Board may also consider whether any interlocutory order was erroneous or an abuse of discretion. [All interlocutory orders shall be presumed to have been correct and the burden of showing manifest error or an abuse of discretion shall be on the party attacking the order.]

Reference Collections of U.S. Patents and Trademarks Available for Public Use in Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries

The following libraries, designated as Patent and Trademark Depository Libraries (PTDLs), receive patent and trademark information in various formats from the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. Many PTDLs have on file all full-text patents issued since 1790, trademarks published since 1872, and select collections of foreign patents. All PDTLs have both the patent and trademark sections of the Official Gazette of the U. S. Patent and Trademark Office. The full-text utility and design patents are distributed numerically on 16 mm microfilm, and plant patents on color microfiche. Patent and trademark search systems on CD-ROM (Compact Disc-Read Only) format are available at all PTDLs to increase utilization of and enhance access to the information found in patents and trademarks. It is through the CD-ROM systems that preliminary patent and trademark searches can be conducted through the numerically arranged collections.

All information is available for use by the public free of charge.

In addition, each PTDL offers reference publications which outline and provide access to the patent and trademark classification systems, as well as other documents and publications which supplement the basic search tools. PTDLs provide technical staff assistance in using all materials. Facilities for making paper copies of patent and trademark information are generally provided for a fee.

Since there are variations in the scope of patent and trademark collections among the PTDLs, and their hours of service to the public vary, anyone contemplating use of these collections at a particular library is urged to contact that library in advance about its collections, services, and hours in order to avert possible inconvenience.

SECTION 1.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).
